

_FullFlush1 Banned From The Vic

Monday, 12 October 2009

Luke "_FullFlush1" Schwartz had been banned from The Grosevenor Casino also known as "The Vic" over a cap and a sandwich whilst playing in the London EPT not just once but twice - Read on for the full story

Luke "_FullFlush1" Schwartz who seems to be hitting headlines on a weekly basis at the moment managed to get himself banned from The Vic recently which is quite a feat as these guys tend to be pretty relaxed over most things. His first banning came about when he refused to remove his cap in the casino, but thankfully his friend Eddie Hearn managed to get the ban lifted so Schwartz could play in the EPT taking place at The Vic.

However on day 2 it all began again when Schwartz managed to get banned a second time from the casino - This time it was over a cheese toasted sandwich!!!! Yes you read that right. We heard that he refused to pay for it as he felt he was a VIP player in the casino so shouldn't have to pay for his sandwiches; turns out he wasn't a VIP and was subsequently banned a second time from The Vic.

In addition if this thread at 2+2 is true then he has also been banned from the rest of the EPT season.

Next time pay for the sandwich!